The graph shows the difference of the average life expectancy in different countries.
We can notice two points in it.
The first is that the average life expectancy of females are higher than that of males.
I think that it is because the females tend to take care of their health.
The second is that the expectancy in developed countries , such as Japan, France, Sweden and the U.S.A.
is higher than that in developing countries.
The main reason is that the people in developed countries can eat fresh foods and take a good medical care. (95)

I usually take two actions to keep my health.
Firstly, I make it a rule to eat many kinds of foods.
The rule enables me to get various nutrition and it prevents me from having lifestyle-related diseases.
Secondly , I do some exercise every day.
For example, I have a jog in the park near my house and sometimes go to a fitness gym.
I can get strong muscle , remove a stress and feel well by exercise.
Due to these actions, I have never had a cold for six years.
I will keep these rules from now on. (96)

The table shows the number of the students studying abroad in the U.S.A.
and the rate of changes in 2008 and 2009.
The total number of them increased by 2.9% from 671,616 in 2008 to 690,923 in 2009.
The number of students from China was the second largest in 2008.
However, it increased drastically by about 30% in 2009 and as a result , it was the largest of the 25 countries.
In contrast, the number of the students from Japan decreased sharply by about 15% from 29,264 to 24,842,ranked the fifth. (93)
=外国人観光客に地方都市の魅力をアピールする方法を提案する(自由作文、予想問題、90語程度)
The number of visitors from foreign countries to Japan has increased rapidly for several years.
They have a big inbound effect on Japanese economy.
How can we bring this effect to local cities?
I want to propose the experience tour of the local cities mainly for foreign people.
For example, they can have differnt experiences like planting rice ,catching a fish with local fisherman, taking part in a suumer festival and so on.
I hope they will transmit much imformation of Japanese local cities to their friends when they feel attracted to them.(93)
