

2018 公立特別入試/英語口頭試問対策 No3

Interviewer: Welcome to our high school. Nice to meet you.

You:

Interviewer: Are you too nervous?

You:

Interviewer: Calm down. To begin with, what's your name, please?

You:

Interviewer: Thank you. This is your card. Here you are.

Please read Ayumi's speech on the card silently for forty seconds, and read it out.
After that, we will ask you some questions. Then, let's start.

You:

Hello, my name is Ayumi. Today I will talk about my dream.
Last September, I went to a school festival. It was fun to eat some food and listen to music. When I stopped and looked at the pictures of poor children in Africa, one student came to me and said, "Many children in these pictures became sick and died because they didn't have enough food and doctors." Her story made me sad. At that time, I thought, "I want to do something for sick children. A doctor can help them. I want to be a doctor." That was the first time to think about my dream.

Interviewer: Good. We'll have five questions. Please answer them. Are you ready?

You:

Interviewer: First question. When did Ayumi go to a school festival?

You:

Interviewer: Second question. What happened to many children in the pictures?

You:

Interviewer: Third question. Why does Ayumi want to be a doctor?

You:

Interviewer: Well, let's move on the next. These are personal questions.

First, what is your weak subject?

You:

Interviewer: Why are you poor at it?

You:

Interviewer: What did you do to overcome it?

You:

Interviewer: Next question. What will you do using English?

You:

Interviewer: Why do you think so?

You:

Interviewer: Winter Olympic Games are held in Pyeongchang now.

Do you have any favorite competitions or athletes?

You:

Interviewer: What is the reason? Please tell me that.

You:

Interviewer: I see. Thank you for having a interview. That's all. You can leave a room.
